

Conservation for Businesses

Industrial, commercial and institutional customers are vital for the economy of Chandler. The Water Conservation office is committed to help these customers improve their water use efficiency.

Business and industry customers in Chandler use about 3.6 billion gallons of water per year, or about 20 percent of the water used by all Chandler water customers.

Those business or industrial customers who have chosen to actively engage conservation strategies have seen very high returns on their investment. They continue to reap these savings year after year with very little additional ongoing cost once the investment is made. If you want your business to remain competitive in the marketplace, contact the Water Conservation Office and find out how your business might be able to cut its water and sewer costs by implementing water conservation projects.

The Water Conservation Office offers several free services to its commercial customers. Free interior and exterior water audits may help show opportunities where water can be saved.

The Facility Manager's Guide was developed to provide guidance to customers with water management programs and offers specific step-by-step instructions and suggestions on how to create and implement a program at your facility.
