

Preparing for the Digital Television Transition

Consumer Resource Guide

A variety of Web sites offer information and resources on the February 17, 2009 digital television (DTV) transition. Please find a list of those sites below:

www.DTVanswers.com: The National Association of Broadcasters has launched an aggressive consumer education campaign on the digital television transition and has developed a consumer friendly Web site that answers basic questions about the transition. Visit www.dtvanswers.com for additional information on the transition.

www.DTVtransition.org: The DTV Transition Coalition, a large coalition of public and private sector organizations, has come together to support the transition and help educate consumers. www.DTVtransition.org includes information about the coalition as well as information for consumers about the transition to digital television.

www.DTV.gov: The Federal Communications Commission launched its DTV Web site last year, at www.dtv.gov. This Web site has a variety of information for policymakers and consumers.

Converter box coupons: For more information or to request a coupon, call 1 (888) DTV-2009 or 1 (877) 530-2634 (TTY), visit www.DTV2009.gov or mail coupon applications to PO Box 2000, Portland, OR 97208.

An initiative of the National Association of Broadcasters